AndrewServes scholars volunteer at Flint RiverQuarium Festival

CUTHBERT, GA. – Thirteen AndrewServes scholars from Andrew College volunteered on Saturday, September 24 at the Flint RiverQuarium’s Water, Wings, and Wildlife Festival in Albany. This is the program’s third year helping with the festival. Scholars led aviary tours, presented waterway and stream information, taught visitors about the touch tank, and helped with clean-up at the end of the day.

Five scholars donned the RiverQuarium mascot costumes and greeted guests and posed for pictures. Sophomore Anna Marmolejo-Rios, Blakely, GA, a festival volunteer for the past two years, said that her favorite activity of the day was watching the butterflies as they were released from their exhibit. Scholars volunteered alongside former Andrew College Board of Trustee member Emily Jean McAfee, Albany, who regularly gives of her time to help the Flint RiverQuarium.
