Students reach into community

CUTHBERT, GA. – Saturday, August 25 was a busy day for Andrew College. The AndrewServes Program hosted a Day of Service in which over 75 students, faculty and staff came together to work on community service projects throughout Cuthbert and Randolph County. Students were separated into teams and worked on different projects, ranging from park cleanup, visiting with nursing home residents, reading to children and painting and downtown storefront cleanup.

AndrewServes Director Malanie Burnett stated “This year we had more volunteers and more projects than ever before. It’s always amazing to see what a group of dedicated volunteers can accomplish in just a few short hours!” Everyone worked up a sweat, but there were smiles all around.

“We worked with a few new local businesses and groups this year and it was so rewarding to be able to expand our efforts this year. I am constantly pleased with the Day of Service events, the students’ attitudes and the willingness of the community,” said Breanna Harkins, program assistant for AndrewServes.

The AndrewServes program works closely with the community and provides Andrew College students with hands-on learning opportunities. As students work in the community, they are able to develop leadership skills that will follow them throughout their lives.
