Sarah Anne Staples Seminar Day held at Andrew College

CUTHBERT, GA. – Andrew College launched their annual Sarah Anne Staples Seminar Day on February 20 with a lecture by guest speaker, Jenni Harris from White Oak Pastures. Harris is the fifth generation of the Harris family to tend cattle at White Oak Pastures. She currently serves as the marketing manager and travels the east coast promoting her family’s grassfed beef and lamb and pastured poultry to distributors, retailers and restaurateurs.

After the lecture, students were given a choice of attending one of nine different seminars taught by Andrew College faculty, ranging in topics from “Climate Change and Forest Management” to “Asia: Customs, Education and Food” to “How Toys Reflected the Masculine Crisis in America.”

The Sarah Anne Staples Seminar Day has been held at Andrew College since 1978 and is sponsored by the Theta Lamda Chapter of Phi Theta Kappa.
