Andrew College announces new Vice President for Advancement

CUTHBERT, GA. –Spencer Sealy from Columbus, Georgia has been appointed vice president for advancement at Andrew College and will begin his new role on July 2, 2018. Sealy has 27 years of success in higher education and non-profit management, development and fund raising.

Since 2010, Sealy has worked as the associate vice president for development at Columbus State University and as the associate executive director for the Columbus State University Foundation. He has been responsible for securing gifts and overseeing development operations. Prior to his position at Columbus State he served as the assistant dean for development at the Florida State University College of Business from 2003-2010.

President Linda Buchanan remarked, “We are so pleased that Spence will be joining the Andrew College team. He brings with him a vast knowledge related to fundraising in higher education and will be able to help us as we grow Andrew College so that we can better serve the southwest region of Georgia. Spence will help us spread the Andrew story because he is the Andrew story!”

Sealy received his master of education degree from Brenau University, his bachelor of arts from the University of Georgia and his associate of arts degree from Andrew College.
