Steel Magnolias draws large crowd

CUTHBERT, GA. – Andrew College’s theatre department brought comedy and portraits of female strength and friendship to Cuthbert as it presented the beloved play, Steel Magnolias during four performances in November.

Deborah Liss-Green, director of the theatre program remarked, “I am so pleased at the reception to our work as well as by the support of the administration and the community. I am particularly grateful to the local businesses, especially Lisa’s Beauty Salon and Nellie Packard’s Finery, that loaned us furnishings for the show.”

Because the production was an Associate Entry, two of Andrew College’s student actors, Jazmine Curry and Hannah Sims were nominated to participate in the Irene Ryan Acting Auditions at Region Four of the Kennedy Center American College Theatre Festival to be held at the University of South Carolina-Upstate in February.
