

Scroll down to read more about our volunteer faculty mentors.

Professor Deborah Liss-Green

Deborah Liss-Green is the theatre professor. Originally from NYC, Deb has experience teaching all age levels, from Pre-K to Adult learners. Deb is particularly interested in mentoring those in marginalized minority communities (LGBTQ+ and religious/ethnic minority groups). She has been known to bring home baked goods to campus. You can reach her at, deborahlissgreen@andrewcollege.edu

Professor Brian Cole

I am Dr. Bryan Cole and I teach both the education and criminal justice courses at Andrew College. I have a background in counseling, law enforcement, and the military. I worked with delinquent youth in a variety of capacities for 19 years. I am a former Kentucky State Park Ranger and police academy instructor. I am also a retired US Army Major, having served in Afghanistan in 2002. I am also a former high school cross-country coach. I am here to help any student that seeks out guidance that I may have something to offer. You can reach Dr. Cole at, bryancole@andrewcollege.edu

Professor Amanda Knight

Professor Amanda Knight teaches English and public speaking and advises many students on career interests, coursework, and transfer options. She is a good listener and can offer "Mom" advice when needed as well. Professor Knight continues to stay in contact with many of her students who send her a friend request on Facebook. She welcomes any students who need to talk to someone to drop by her office on the third floor of Staples Hall, Office 314. You can reach her at, amandaknight@andrewcollege.edu

Professor Chris Serafin

Hi – my name is Professor Serafin and I teach business, marketing and a few history classes here at Andrew. I can help mentees who are looking to further their education through online learning or want to prepare for graduate degrees. I am also experienced with social media marketing and can help students who want to go into related fields like communications or advertising, although I would be happy to speak to anyone about anything. You can reach me at, chrisserafin@andrewcollege.edu

Professor Adam Keasling

Greetings — I am Dr. Keasling. I serve as professor of chemistry and engineering graphics. My background is split between research and industry having experience in both drug discovery and design (e.g. isolation chemistry, SARs, mixed-synthesis, natural products, pharmacology, etc.), as well as, computer-aided design (CAD; e.g. instrument design, additive manufacturing,ITAR regulated hardware, etc.). Even if your interests lie outside of these fields, I am more than happy to discuss any questions, concerns, or confusions — especially those related to long-term planning or of a technical/objective nature. You can reach me at, adamkeasling@andrewcollege.edu

Professor Katie Dodrill

Hi! I'm Katie Dodrill, and I've been an English professor here at Andrew College for ten years. I live in Shellman with my husband Ryan, who writes code for a computer game company, and our three-year-old daughter Sarah. I am active on campus: I participate in a faculty bible study, lead workshops and seminars, and I've acted in several college plays. I love reading and writing, and I co-authored a book with my mother titled There Was Once a Team, about a Georgia basketball team that won 132 games in a row, a state record. I have graduate degrees in both education and English, so I can help students who are interested in those fields, as well as students who are interested in writing. I'm also happy to help students who struggle with reading and writing and need encouragement! I love my students and colleagues at Andrew College, and I'm excited about the mentorship program. You can reach me at, katiedodrill@andrewcollege.edu

Professor Katie Brown

My name is Katie Brown but you may see me listed as Kathryn Brown. I am the Respiratory Therapy program director and Allied Health Division Coordinator. The courses I teach are mainly healthcare related (Medical Terminology, Health and First Aid, Respiratory Therapy) but I also fill in for ACE 101 instructors to teach topics from our Purposeful Pathways Program. Please let me know if you would like to chat about healthcare related careers, your transfer/graduation plan, or just anything. My office is located in the lower level of the chapel. You can reach me at, kathrynbrown@andrewcollege.edu

Professor Josh Temples

Hello! My name is Josh Temples, but you may call me Mr. Temples, Mr. Josh, Professor Temples, whichever you prefer! I teach English and literature classes, and I run the Writing Center (IWRC) in Pitts Library here on campus. I can help with students who might struggle with reading and writing and point them in the right direction in terms of library and support resources, the IWRC being one of them. I can also advise students on degree programs and majors relating to English and the arts, and with what may or may not come after undergrad in the way of higher education. Shoot me an email at joshtemples@andrewcollege.edu

Professor Robert Kortbawi

Hi – my name is Dr. Kortbawi, most call me Dr. Bob and I teach business, leadership, management, and ethics here at Andrew. I can assist mentees who are looking to further their education to pursue their chosen career aspirations. I am also experienced with various aspects of the business world, especially in management and leadership and willing to assist students who wish to pursue careers in these fields. You can reach me at, robertkortbawi@andrewcollege.edu